Proceedings of the National Union Convention This Morning. The proceedings of the Presbyterian National Union Convention during the session of yesterday afternoon and evening will be found on our third page.

DEVOTIONAL SERVICES. The Convention assembled this morning at half past 9 o'clock, at the First Reformed Church, on Broad Street, between Spruce and Pine, the President, George W. Jenkins, presiding.

Robert Carter, Esq. (O. S.), of New York, narrated some of his experiences, in which these differences between the branches of the Church had kept him, in some instances, from sitting down at the Lord's table. But he said that he would not be deterred from doing so, and without solicitation of any kind, he would sit at the Lord's table with one and all who should be glad for the privilege of uniting with each other.

With all this quickening power, the singing of the hymns, the first hymn ever sung in the Church, which this Convention was sitting, "Come Holy Spirit, heavenly Dove," was sung.

THIRD EDITION.

FROM WASHINGTON THIS P. M.

For President—Grant or Chase?

Colonel Forney's Pronouncement.

What is Thought of It.

Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.

Forney's Chronicle this morning comes out squarely for General Grant as the Republican candidate for President, and quotes a speech made by General Rawlin's, chief of staff to Grant, at Galena, Ill., in June last, in which Rawlin's asserted the most radical sentiments and advocated universal suffrage.

This speech, the Chronicle says, was carefully prepared in Washington, after a full understanding with Grant, and was spoken so that the country might know Grant's exact position. The speech of Representative Washburne, at the Jo. Davies Republican Convention, on the 5th of October last, is also given to show that Grant is in accord with Washburne, as the latter is known to be Grant's intimate friend and confidential adviser.

The Chase party here ridiculed this movement of Forney, and say that Rawlin's and Washburne are not to be considered the exponents of Grant's political sentiments, and that their speeches prove nothing, as they do not commit Grant to their opinions in any way. They argue further, that Forney and others are frightened at the result of the late elections, and will desert their principles for expediency.

The Chase faction avow their determination to urge their candidate, and declare they are not dismayed at the late elections any more than they were after the elections of 1852, which were followed by a reaction next year.

The Metropolitan Base Ball Club of Philadelphia arrived here this morning, and will play a match with the Union of this city this afternoon.

Thaddeus Stevens' Health. WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—A letter received from an intimate personal and political friend of the Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, dated Lancaster, Nov. 6th, says:—"Mr. Stevens is not quite so well to-day. Still, he expects to leave for Washington on Saturday next. He may do so, but I think it extremely doubtful if he can appear in the House."

FROM BALTIMORE TO-DAY. Interesting from Fort Jefferson—Dr. Mudd—Democratic Majority in Maryland, Etc. [SPECIAL DESPATCH TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—A letter has been received from Fort Jefferson, Maryland, stating that the soldiers of that post have unanimously signed a petition for the pardon of Dr. Mudd, one of Lincoln's assassins, in consequence of his great exertions in attending yellow-fever cases in the fortress. Strong efforts are making for his pardon.

The Democratic majority in Maryland, at late elections, is about fifty thousand. Not a solitary Republican elected to any office. Negro suffrage, greenbacks, and taxes are doing the work. The conservatives seem permanently united with the Democracy.

ST. DOMINGO.

Landing of a Bazaar Expedition—Government Troops Defeat It—Indignation Against Hayti—Probably a Speck of War.

HAVANA, Nov. 5.—An armed expedition of the partisans of General Bazac has landed at Monte Christi, in Haytian vessels. They occupied the town of Guayabaco, where the revolution against President Salnave broke out in September last. The troops of the Government, under the command of General E. Polanco, however, beat them, and suppressed the attempted revolution.

The people of St. Domingo are indignant at the treachery of President Salnave, who has, for some time back, been suspected of favoring the schemes of General Bazac at Port-au-Prince. They claim that they could march five thousand troops against the capital of Hayti.

President Cabral has recalled his Minister from Hayti, and has gone to Cibaou. Testine intends forcing the northeastern lines. It is rumored that Cabral has negotiated a loan of $2,000,000 in London.

ALABAMA. The Reconstruction Convention—Appointment of Committees and Completion of the Organization. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 6.—Nothing of any importance transpired in the Convention to-day. Mr. Bayham, one of the Southern delegates, travelled through the North last year, made several speeches. He said that the new constitution of Alabama ought to be modeled upon that of Vermont. The usual committees were appointed, and the Convention adjourned.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE. DISTRICT COURT—Judge Shawwood.—Ann Harlow vs. John H. Kelly, in action on promissory note. The defense set up that the note was given in consideration for labor in West Virginia, the title to which was not as represented at the giving of the note. Verdict for plaintiff, $250.00.

James Hayden vs. John H. Kelly. An action for damages for injury done plaintiff's horse, through the alleged negligence of defendant in showing it. The defendant's horse was not properly trained, and attacked the credibility of the witnesses for the plaintiff. Jury out.

Charles L. Hart vs. Charles L. Hart.—Charles L. Hartman vs. Anthony J. Drexel. An action to recover for work and labor done. The plaintiff was introduced to the work by the defendant's mother. He was not allowed to sit for the paintings, but the plaintiff was to do his work from photographs, dresses and jewelry furnished by the mother. He went on with the work, devoting much time and labor, and the defendant refused to pay for them.
